

The Career Song

There are astronomers and couriers, and industrial engineers
Archeologists, economists, and even auctioneers
There are carpenters to build your house
Dentists that can fix your mouth
Oh, it all depends on what you want to be

There are veterinarians, librarians, and forensic scientists
Social workers & real estate brokers, and sports psychologists
There are plumbers to fix your drain
And surgeons to operate on your brain...ooooh
Oh, it all depends on what you wanna be

If you like to cook, well, you could be a chef
And if you like to draw, perhaps an architect
If you'd like to make the clothes people wear
Then you could be a fashion designer
Or even make the costumes on a movie set

There are policemen and firemen, and marine biologists
Paramedics, auto mechanics, ortho and optometrists
There are accountants to do your taxes
And chiropractors that can fix your backs-s
Oh, it all depends on what you wanna be

If you like to read, then you could be an editor
And if you like the law, perhaps judge or a lawyer
And if you're good at statistics
You could study demographics
And do market research for an advertiser
Oh, it all depends on what you wanna be
It all de-pends on what you want to be
